What State Law Provides
State law establishes the criteria for court-ordered mental health treatment. These laws differ from state to state.

In this state, the following criteria apply:

USER INSTRUCTIONS:
These two panels are intentionally left blank for you to insert:

• Criteria for emergency psychiatric detention
• Criteria for inpatient commitment
• Criteria for outpatient commitment
• Who can initiate these processes

Users will find the information needed to complete these panels in the State Standards booklet linked from the Psych Crisis Resource Kit page at http://www.treatmentadvocacycenter.org/get-help

What to do in a Psychiatric Crisis in City/County/State

USER INSTRUCTIONS:
Enter your City/County/State name in the space above.

Critical resources for use in a mental health emergency.

A public service of

USER INSTRUCTIONS:
Enter your City/County/State name in the space above.

If danger seems imminent, DO NOT DELAY. Call 911.

Request officers with mental health training (e.g., Crisis Intervention Training or “CIT”).

In this state, assisted outpatient treatment (AOT) is called

USER INSTRUCTIONS:
Insert term from State Standards guide

For additional information about civil commitment in this state, visit www.TreatmentAdvocacyCenter.org

Additional information about this state is available by clicking through from the U.S. map that appears on every page of the website.

www.TreatmentAdvocacyCenter.org